DRIVES MISSION SUCCESS

Strong IT supplies the enabling solutions and services for your most vital missions. From the global war on terror to homeland security to force readiness for real-world combat, Strong IT delivers the strength to succeed.

Meet Your Critical Priorities from a Position of Strength

Large-scale IT systems and communications networks are the strategic and operational heart of defense, intelligence, civilian government and private business. Everything depends on them — from ensuring mission success to transforming enterprises to navigating the challenges of the future. Achieving these goals requires more than traditional IT solutions, which these days have become commodities.

Strong solutions demand Strong IT: the integration of forward-looking technology, strategy, domain understanding and management. This is our approach at General Dynamics Information Technology.

Based on our world-class systems integration, systems engineering and professional services, General Dynamics’ Strong IT solutions:

- Synchronize your information and network environment with your mission and enterprise strategy
- Strengthen priorities like simulation and training, network systems, weapons platforms and logistics
- Apply advanced project management to deliver solutions on time and on budget with minimum risk
